

The decision by Sinclair broadcasting to use public airwaves to broadcast political propaganda in the form of news deserves prompt attention from the FCC. It should not be forgotten that the FCC is a government run, taxpayer funded, nonpartisan organization established to regulate the interstate and international communications by radio, television, wire, satellite and cable. If the FCC fails to address this blatant misuse of a public good it will diminish the integrity of our airwaves, the upcoming election, and itself.